FIRE DEPARTMENT GIVES PALM SPRINGS FIRE AND ACCIDENT PROTECTION

The chief of the Palm Springs fire department, William Leonzio, makes the following report on the fire department, to better acquaint the citizens with the equipment that is at the service of the public. One will see after reading this article, that the department has kept up with the "March of Time," and has made splendid progress in its short existence.

Much credit is due to the untiring efforts of the fire commissioners, Alvah Hicks, John Klein, Charles Bosworth, and Fire Chief William Leonzio, who have given Palm Springs a fire department second to none in the state.

FIRE EQUIPMENT

Housed in the station are two pumping trucks, the large white "Mack," just a little more than a year and a half old, which is the latest creation in fire engines fashioned to meet the needs of this up-to-date community. It has a 750-gallons-per-minute pumper, carries two 35-foot dura-aluminum ladders that weigh 90 pounds each, two 24-foot ladders, and one folding pole ladder; a roll-out body that carries 1200 feet of 2½-inch hose, a booster tank supplying a hundred gallons of water, gas masks, fomite tanks and fire-fighting guns for oil fires and quick emergency calls.

There are 300 feet of 1½-inch hose that, with adapters, can be attached to plugs or the 2½-inch line when more streams are necessary. The white truck is to be used mainly in the business district and close-in territory.

The red truck, an American La France, is ready for calls in outlying districts where fire plugs are scarce, since a huge built-in tank holding 300 gallons of water, stands available. Two one-inch lines operate off the pumper, and a steady stream from both nozzles can be maintained for about 15 minutes. This truck has a 500-gallon-per-minute pumper. It also carries a triple extension wood ladder, 1200 feet of 2½-inch hose.

Local Men Injured in Auto Accident

Alvah Hicks and his son, Harold Hicks, both escaped without serious injury early Monday morning when the car in which they were riding overturned on the Pines to Palm Highway a short distance west of Ribbonwood.

Alvah Hicks, a director of the Coachella Valley County Water district, was hurrying to his home in Palm Springs after having spent the week-end at Idyllwild with his family. He intended to go from Palm Springs to the water board meeting at Coachella.

According to Mr. Hicks, a cow walked onto the highway from behind some brush and immediately in front of his rapidly moving car. In an attempt to swerve the car to miss the cow and at the same time checking its speed, it skidded and went over the embankment, turning over and cutting and bruising both the occupants.

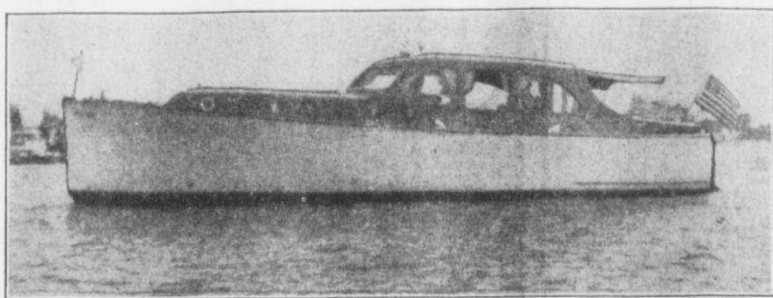

Ward Grant, editor of the Indio News, returning from Idyllwild, came to the scene of the accident almost immediately after it happened, helped the injured persons out of the car and brought them on to Palm Springs.

Both men were bruised, but Alvah Hicks was badly cut on one arm. First aid was administered at the Palm Springs Drug and then Alvah Hicks was taken to Indio for treatment by Dr. Pawley.

The men were motoring in the Alvah Hicks family Cadillac sedan at the time of the accident. The car was badly damaged, according to reports.

The accident occurred at about 7:30 a. m.

Former Frisco Newspaper Man Appointed Executive Secretary Of Palm Springs Chamber

Palm Springs Man Has Interesting Alaskan Trip

Wilson H. Chapman of the local branch office of Tanner Motor Livery returned to Palm Springs recently from an interesting trip to Alaska. Mr. Chapman took a party of persons from Southern California to Alaska and back for Tanner.

Chapman and his party left Southern California early in July, and Mr. Chapman drove them to Seattle in a Tanner limousine. On July 19 they sailed from Seattle on the S. S. Baranof for Alaska.

First port of call was Ketchikan. Here Chapman and his party went through the huge San Juan fish cannery, the largest fish cannery in Alaska, and one of the largest in the world. Between Wrangell and Petersburg they sailed through the famous Wrangell Narrows, where all insurance is cancelled during the duration of the time the boat is in the Narrows. When asked if the Narrows are truly narrow, Chapman answered, "So narrow that you can almost pick twigs from the trees on the shore."

Chapman and his party spent six hours in Juneau. "Juneau has only 34 miles of highways but has 1015 automobiles," Chapman revealed. While stopping at Juneau they saw the Mendenhall Glacier and went through the famous Alaska gold mine. Juneau has a population of 4000 people.

Leaving Juneau the party crossed the Gulf of Alaska to Cordova. (Bill Hillery, Cathedral City real estate broker, is a former mayor of Cordova, Ed.) They also stopped at Valdez and Seward.

President Barney Hinkle was authorized to appoint a committee to take care of this matter, and he appointed Francis Crocker, Hobart Garlick, Al Gardiner, H. E. (Pat) Patterson, Carl G. Lykken, and Earl Coffman.

The committee met last week and selected M. L. Peterson as the man to administer the affairs of the Chamber of Commerce. Their choice should meet with the approval of all residents of Palm Springs as Mr. Peterson is a capable, well educated, efficient young man with a pleasing personality and an enthusiasm for Palm Springs and its future that is extremely contagious.

According to Postmaster R. M. Gorham, postoffice records indicate an early and active season. Every day the local postoffice receives numerous cancellations of forwarding addresses with instructions to start placing the mail in the local boxes.

Manager Francis Crocker of the local office of the Nevada-California Electric Corporation, reports that his company is receiving connect orders at the rate of about 20 a day now.

The Southern California Gas Company is connecting about 11 meters a day in Palm Springs at the present time. All this attests to the fact that the season here is getting off to a very early start this year.

Many business houses are opening every day. In fact, so many have opened during this week that this issue of The Desert Sun is almost filled with news stories concerning the opening of various business establishments.

Even the rains are coming early. Since Sept. 1st, 2.11 inches of rain have fallen in Palm Springs. Last year .08 inches fell in September.

New faces appear along the streets every day and it is expected the season will be well underway in a short time.

NOBODY WINS

During a radio broadcast Sunday night in which the current war was being discussed, a speaker made this very pertinent statement: "Asking who will win the war is like asking who won the San Francisco Earthquake."

All participants in the World War, in fact the entire civilized world, lost by that horrible conflagration—and so it will be again in the present European war. HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

WILL ALASKA PROVE THE NEW PROMISED LAND?

Secretary of Interior Ickes' recently announced suggestion that Alaska be opened for colonization for American citizens and also "artisans now fleeing Europe" has aroused considerable interest and not a little speculation. On his recent trip to Alaska Mr. Ickes was convinced that the development of that country can be as proportionately important to our present economy as the building of the West in the nineteenth century, adding "it is a matter for serious national concern that Alaska, with a territory, climate and resources equal to all Scandinavia, now has a static population of about 60,000 as compared with a population of 13,000,000 in Scandinavia."

According to a recent report from the Interior Department, the resources of Alaska are very different from those of the United States and can be developed along lines that will not compete with products of this country. The products of Alaska are in a large part the very products which we now import from Asia and Europe and their development will help to make the United States independent in the event of war. For example, in the northern territory there is tin, and it is a known fact that the United States imports most of its tin; there are enormous forests and it is a fact that three-fourths of the news print used in this country is imported. Also fishing and trapping would reduce the importation of fish and furs. Surely, it would seem that in our great possession of Alaska there is ample opportunity for men and women who have enough of the frontier spirit to be willing to undergo a degree of hard work and perhaps temporary deprivation in this new field of endeavor and opportunity.

Our American pioneer of yesterday took his little family out into the wilderness, and with only a few rudimentary tools and a muzzle-loading rifle for defense built his log cabin, cleared land, and gradually acquired the comforts of home. With others of like courage and determination he built up communities and founded new states. Such a spirit is needed in those who go out to develop Alaska. Without it, the result will be just another "noble experiment."

MAKING MISTAKES

When a carpenter makes a mistake, it's just what he expected.

When a plumber makes a mistake, he charges twice for it.

When a doctor makes a mistake, he buries it.

When a preacher makes a mistake, nobody knows the difference.

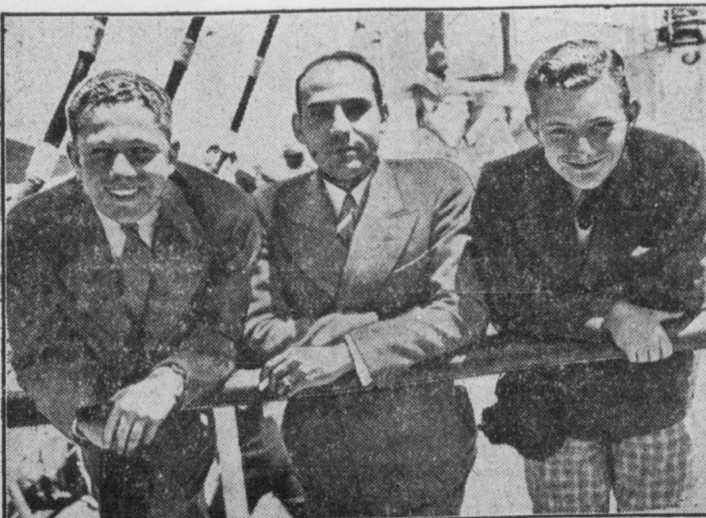

When a lawyer makes a mistake, it is just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

But when an editor makes a mistake — Good night!

The Thrill of a Lifetime

She Can Cook With A Lard Pail

THERE'S scarcely a homemaker today who has nothing more to cook in than a lard pail, but Miss Albertine Berry, home economist of a Dallas Texas gas company, proves by the tin bucket method that a cook is not limited to any special type of utensil in order to obtain fine results in cooked food when there is a modern gas range in the kitchen.

Further, she proves that vegetables may be cooked together without an interchange of flavors. Into the bucket containing one-half inch of water she places carrots, cabbage, onions and cauliflower, each wrapped in separate pieces of parchment; the cover of the bucket, punctured with two small holes for the escape of steam, is fitted tightly to the top. The gas burner is turned to full flame until steam appears, then adjusted to simmer for the 35-minute cooking period.

Try tin bucket cookery sometime when you wish to carry a warm vegetable main dish to a picnic!

Chicken, Fried To Tenderness

PERFECT chicken frying requires no great skill, but it does exact quick heat and an even spread of heat beneath the skillet, then an instant change to simmering temperature. The trick is to seal the chicken flesh with hot fat so that in further cooking only the heat and not the fat will penetrate.

Roll pieces of a 2½ to 3 lb. chicken in flour, seasoned with salt and pepper. Heat skillet containing several tablespoons of fat over top gas burner, arrange pieces of chicken in the pan; cover and brown for five minutes; turn chicken and repeat browning process for five minutes. Then remove cover and turn the burner to simmer for 10-15 minutes until the chicken is tender.

The giant top burner of a certified performance gas range is ideal for chicken frying; it not only gives immediate high heat, but has a wide flame spread to the edge of the skillet, and is instantly reducible to simmering temperature.

Trapped In Tree By Giant Snake Man Blinds Reptile Into Flight

As proof of his adventure, Arthur F. Kane exhibits eleven feet of skin cut from boa constrictor which treed him.

FACE to face with a huge boa constrictor in a tree twenty feet above the ground in the Amazon jungle, Arthur F. Kane, foreign correspondent and explorer, of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, attacked the snake with his flashlight, forced it to back down the tree and followed it until he was low enough to jump to earth.

Kane, who was collecting rare tropical insects, had hacked a clearing in the jungle. He cut the top off a tree and on the trunk he built a wooden platform a yard square for his insect trap. Waiting up there in the jungle blackness, he heard a swishing, hissing sound behind him.

"Though the night was boiling hot," he said, "my whole body began to freeze. There was no mistaking that sound."

"I had no weapons—only my flashlight," he explained. "Sliding it over the edge of the platform, I pushed the switch. There, not two feet away, I saw the huge body of a snake coiled about the tree!"

Kane's first thought was to jump, but he could not. The sharp stumps of the trees he had cut to make a clearing for his trap covered the ground below, standing up like ranks of spears. If he jumped he would probably kill himself on one of them.

Gripping his flashlight, Kane again leaned over the edge of the platform. He pushed his light close to the snake, struggling to keep his hand steady as he advanced it toward the reptile. Within six inches of the boa's spitting tongue, he stopped.

"For a moment," he said, "nothing happened. Then slowly, a fraction of an inch at a time, the snake began to back down the tree, spitting and hissing at the glare from the light. I redoubled my efforts to keep the light steadily on him. As he slowly retreated, I slowly followed."

"He moved so deliberately, withdrawing one section of his body, then another, then another, that I knew it would take a long time to force him back. Yet so long as my light held out, I could do it. Fortunately I had put dated batteries in at Rio de Janeiro, and I knew they were fresh. The light kept working, and I forced him down inch by inch."

Hours seemed to pass, Kane said, before the snake was low enough for him to jump past it to the ground. Running along a jungle path, he made his way to the village.

A few nights later he returned with his porters, found the snake again and killed it. Boa constrictors, Kane knew, rarely attack anything as big as a man, but he got little comfort from that at the time. Even now, he says, he'd just as soon not meet another one suddenly in the night.

This Is a Double Duty Kitchen

PARAPHRASING the old saying about a rule—it is a poor kitchen that cannot be worked two ways. Architects designing the majority of small homes today realize that a house is more useable and convenient when some rooms can be used for two purposes, as designed. And certainly, the kitchen is expected to offer space for a dining area for breakfast and snacks.

Note that the kitchen illustrated above has one wall of glass block with a casement window cut in the center; thus, whosoever breakfasts at the little table for two has brightness and a view of the out-of-doors besides. The high-speed modern gas range located in the center of the adjoining wall makes it easy to cook breakfast in double-quick time and serve it piping hot; trays placed in the vertical cabinet at the side of the range are ever ready for collecting the dishes to carry to the sink.

Miss Gutierrez suffered a skull fracture, and Mrs. Wren a fracture of the pelvis in the accident. A third member of the party, Gil Luis, 15, also of El Paso, whose collar-bone was broken, left the hospital yesterday for Los Angeles.

The accident occurred at 6 o'clock Saturday evening when George Gaal of El Paso, driver, lost control of the car and it

BANNING DEFEATS PALM SPRINGS

Despite the fact that two of its outstanding pin smashers were not in the line-up, the Banning Bowling Academy's squad outstepped the Palm Springs team, last Thursday night, at the Banning Bowling Academy, by a score of 2467 to 2383.

This match, their second, gives the local boys a win average of .500, having dropped their first contest to Redlands.

The next meeting between these two teams will be held Thursday night at Palm Springs.

Two of the Banning squad's men who made their contribution toward the victory were Eddie Meyers, who held high score for the three game series, with a tally of 566 and Scott, who took top honors for a single game with a 212.

struck a telephone pole on the north side of the highway. In the car beside those injured seriously were Mr. Gaal, Mrs. Geneva Gaal, and Mattie Wren. All were shaken and cut and were treated at the Banning Hospital.

PETER PAN PASTRY SHOPPE MOVES TO NEW LOCATION

Mae Johnson and Helen Hill, who operate the popular Peter Pan Pastry Shoppe here, have returned for the coming season. Their shop will open October 1.

Last season their bakery shop was located in Sale's Plaza Market, but this year the Peter Pan Pastry Shoppe will be located in the Plymire Building, 276 North Palm Canyon Drive, next to the Palm Springs Date Market.

GORDON FEEKINGS OF VILLAGE SANDWICH SHOP, BACK IN TOWN

The Public's Health

By R. L. KAUFMAN, M. D.
County Health Officer

Small clouds of dust will soon be raised by the traffic along roads which but a few days ago were submerged by mud and debris. In this respect, dust is indeed a welcome sign, the first step in our convalescence from a drenching rain in the desert area between Indio and Blythe. And just as a patient on the road to recovery tries to form a mental image of his recent illness and its symptoms, so can we recall some of the happenings in the valley during the previous week.

We are struck by the fact that these emergencies, costly as they are, have a good side. They bring us all closer together, bringing out the best in people. Helpfulness, mutual assistance and self-sacrifice, the three best human qualities, come to the fore. We realize how dependent we all are upon one another.

We realize how helpless we are without the things we just take for granted. The telephone, to give an example, is a serious loss when out of commission. The motor bus and train are unable to bring people together when roads are washed out or otherwise destroyed.

To be isolated in a community without means of verbal or physical communication is not very pleasant. To be without gas, electricity or safe drinking water is serious.

Fortunately, in this present heavy rainfall, public utilities were practically intact at all times. Word received from Blythe by the sheriff's office assured them that no serious emergency existed, other than being isolated. However, steps were taken right at the start to make temporary roads where bridges had been washed away.

The lesson to be learned from floods, earthquakes and other cataclysms of nature is to be prepared for them. The major disaster committee is a fine idea, and the work it must do must be well planned. Each person and organization should have a good idea as to their duties and authorities.

We should plan for adequate auxiliary means of communication within the county and outside, to take the place of systems temporarily disrupted. Well protected depots containing the necessities of life, such as food and clothing and medical and surgical supplies, cots, blankets, etc., should be in readiness.

From the public health standpoint, health workers are concerned primarily with protection of water and food supplies and abatement of any nuisances arising from broken down systems of sewage disposal. Wells which have become polluted by surface drainage or sewage should not be used until O.K'd by the health department. In case of doubt, all water should be boiled before use. Typhoid injections are available for those who want them either by the private physician or health department.

MILLER'S BICYCLE SHOP OPEN

Miller's the shop on Palm Canyon Drive, owned and operated by Reuben Miller, opened last week for the new season. Miller's handles Servel Electrolux gas refrigerators, Magic Chef gas ranges and gas heaters. A bicycle sales and service business is also maintained at Miller's.

Herb Scarborough, local air conditioning and refrigeration service expert, has his headquarters at Miller's this year. Mr. Scarborough also sells air conditioning units and commercial refrigeration systems.

Henry Simsarian, local plumber, also has his headquarters at Miller's.

Mr. Miller announced this week that another "C. P." (certified performance) gas range campaign is now in progress. During this campaign if a person purchases a "C.P." gas range, he receives a control clock with the range at no extra cost.

Local Woman Becomes Citizen

Forty-eight Riverside county residents, including one from Palm Springs, were admitted to United States citizenship Tuesday in impressive naturalization proceedings held in the court of Superior Judge G. R. Freeman. The local resident who received citizenship papers was Ethel Winifred Hanzlik.

The successful applicants for citizenship were charged with their new responsibilities by Judge Freeman and by Dr. Ezra James Egly, speaking as a representative of the American Legion.

"Nowhere in the world can you find another land where persons are invited into citizenship without restriction of creed or color as is the case here in the United States," asserted Dr. Egly.

"The additional wonder, in the light of conditions in other lands, is that this citizenship is based upon equality. In the next election your vote will count just as much as that of Judge Freeman, who has just admitted you into citizenship, or of the President of the United States.

"There are added duties of citizenship to that of intelligent voting. Above all I trust that you will maintain that law-abiding attitude which has enabled you to appear here and qualify for this great gift of citizenship."

Joseph S. Long, past state commander of Riverside post of the American Legion conducted the hearing, while citizenship manuals and small American flags were given to the new citizens by the Legion Auxiliary.

GORDON NICHOLSON'S RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nicholson and sons, Gordon, Jr., and Clarence, returned to Palm Springs Monday for the season from Idyllwild, where they had spent the summer. They have opened their home in Merita Vista Tract.

Food Prices And Profits

A Statement Of Safeway Policy

THE FORCES of market disturbance, fear, and speculation, are at work. Prices for some basic commodities have already gone up. Increases in Safeway's retail prices on these items reflect the rise in wholesale cost, over which Safeway has no control.

It is a fundamental Safeway policy to earn only a small profit on each sale. Safeway pledges that during the period of war emergency it will not change this policy; and that in the future, as heretofore, it will make every effort through improved methods to reduce distribution cost—the difference between what the farmer gets and the consumer pays. You will always be able to buy from Safeway at the lowest prices available anywhere.

Consumers may assist materially in preventing unwarranted price increases by continuing their purchases on a normal scale. There are adequate supplies of food stuffs for every American. Hysterical buying which strips retail and wholesale stocks creates artificial scarcity, which pushes prices to abnormal levels.

Machinery exists within the government to control production, storage and release of commodities, imports, exports, quotas and prices — if it should become necessary to employ these methods to protect the economic welfare of the country.

Safeway further pledges complete cooperation with the governmental agencies and with farmer producers in all efforts to stabilize prices; discourage profiteering; and maintain orderly facilities for food distribution.

CATHEDRAL CITY

By W. R. HILLERY

Some day the romance of a lost mine in Cathedral Canyon will be told, but for the present it is sufficient to say that what is now known as the Eloisa Mine is a very interesting place to hike to. The mine, now owned by William Pablo and J. B. Romero, is about two miles southeast of the entrance to Cathedral Canyon. It was visited last week by Dr. M. E. Harvey, Don Admiral, W. R. Hillery, C. M. Gephart, and Art Mills, under the leadership of C. W. "Slim" Larrison.

Reports of irate citizens, that firearms were being discharged in or near the village, was sufficient to cause Constable C. L. Templeton to ask that villagers take warning as there is a heavy penalty for violating the law that forbids shooting in or near an unincorporated town or village.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin W. Dodd have returned from San Diego, where they assisted E. K. Ellis in the operation of their DeLuxe Trailer Park at that place. Their Park here, bearing the same name is being readied for the season's activity.

Principal Katharine Finchy advises that the primary and grammar grades of the public schools of Palm Springs will open Monday, September 18. Until cooler weather is a permanent fact, the morning session will begin at 8 o'clock, which means the bus will leave Cathedral City about 7:30.

A. V. Linkletter will open his barber shop on Saturday the 16th and Mrs. Linkletter will reopen their general store about the first of October.

A. B. Tennis and Mrs. Tennis returned from Herkey Creek, and after the usual settling process Mr. Tennis will reopen the Cathedral Service Station.

E. J. Wheeler is having changes and improvements made to the Totem Pole Cafe, preparatory to reopening in another week now.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

As a member of the new four-school Eastern Riverside County League, Palm Springs High School is rated as a strong contender in all sports. The "Indians" of Palm Springs are determined to gain recognition for their school and their community by placing a hard-playing, determined eleven on the field that will show by its spirit and good sportsmanship that Palm Springs High is to be respected by all.

Beaumont, Banning, Coachella and Palm Springs High Schools are the members of the new league. The 1939 football schedule is as follows:

October 13—Beaumont at Banning; Coachella at Palm Springs.

October 20—Coachella at Banning; Palm Springs at Beaumont.

October 27—Banning at Palm Springs; Beaumont at Coachella.

November 3—Banning at Beaumont; Palm Springs at Coachella.

November 10—Banning at Coachella; Beaumont at Palm Springs.

EXPECT MUCH ACTIVITY AT WHITEWATER

All indications point to considerable activity and heavy highway traffic this fall and winter in the vicinity of Whitewater, according to Leo Boberick, postmaster. He said yesterday that night traffic is heavy at the present time, and many travelers from distant points stop.

Twelve additional men, employed by Western Electric Co., will begin work Monday morning at the Whitewater telephone repeater station, installing additional equipment. It is said that about a million dollars has so far been invested at this telephone booster station, which is one of the most important in the West. Three shifts of men are employed there constantly. The principal function of the station is to step up and eliminate interference in transcontinental radio broadcasts.

Mr. Boberick also reported that there are rumors at Whitewater that the Federal Government will soon survey Whitewater canyon for the purpose of building a huge flood control dam in the canyon. Government engineers have recently been seen in the canyon.

RAILTON RED LION FASTEST ON EARTH

Tale of the Wind

We've heard a lot of tall tales, some of them probably true, about the hard winds that frequent the desert, but this one overheard this week, tops them all.

The story, overheard by a Desert Sun reporter came out during the course of a conversation between a local merchant and a man employed on the road in the San Geronimo Pass. The story was told to the merchant as a true happening.

It seems that this man was working near the Palm Springs station depot last week, hoeing weeds along the right-of-way. The wind was blowing hard. He had parked his Ford car at the edge of the road and had hoed for some little distance when he chanced to look around, and there, following right behind him, was his car, being blown along by the wind at the same speed that he was working along the highway. "We went along that way for half a mile, I guess," he said, "and once in awhile I would go back and turn the wheel to keep the car going straight. It didn't go too fast," he continued, "because I had the emergency brake set on the car."

The wind does blow quite hard on the desert, sometimes—but—

Flood Causes Lake To Rise Six Feet

Southern California's desert rain storm which last week brought floods to districts where the average annual rainfall is less than three inches raised the level of Lake Havasu, behind Parker dam, more than six feet in four days.

The level of the lake is at the highest point since the Parker dam was constructed across the once mighty Colorado, according to reports issued by the engineering department of the Metropolitan Water district. The dam serves as intake for the water district's Colorado river aqueduct, extending 240 miles across the desert to Southern California cities.

The district engineers said that the floods in the Imperial valley, where scores of families were forced out of their homes and highways, and railroads washed out, would have been of far greater proportion had it not been for the dam.

An enormous runoff from the territory through which the Colorado flows for miles was impounded behind the dam. The Colorado drains the vast desert and mountainous area along the California - Arizona boundary where the rainfall measured nearly five inches for the three-day storm. At Needles, floodwaters ripped out the Santa Fe railroad and Highway 66. These waters flowed into the Colorado.

Rolling into the Record Breaker Lane on Bonneville Salt Flats, John Cobb at the wheel of his huge Raiton Red Lion is hailed by officials who have just clocked him through the measured mile for a new world land speed record.

First man to travel better than six miles a minute on land, John Cobb is officially informed of his new record of 368.8 miles an hour by A. C. Pillsbury (left), regional director of the A.A.A. ### On His Way to Garden Court

THE solitary but self-possessed figure of this bright-jacketed little man, trotting toward the Ford Exposition's Garden Court at the New York World's Fair, caught the eye of a guide.

"What's your name?" the guide asked.

"Bobby Holt," the boy answered. And he volunteered, "I'm going to eat in there." His older brother and sister were not far behind him, but Bobby was not waiting for them. Didn't he know his own way around? Of course he did. And besides, he had all the lunch!

"In there," encircled by Ford's famous "Road of Tomorrow," whose ramps show in the background, is spacious, tree-shaded Garden Court. Here are cool, splashing fountains, stretches of green lawn, clipped hedges.

Sands of Fairgoers come to Garden Court each day, settle down in its comfortable chairs, and unpack their picnic lunches on gay round tables with blue beach umbrellas spreading over them. Afternoons and evenings there are free concerts here, by Ferde Grofe and his New World Ensemble.

Garden Court is typical of the many comforts provided visitors to the Ford Exposition. Adjoining it is an air-conditioned arcade hung with Venetian blinds to soften the light. Here are leather-upholstered chairs, desks, mirrors, potted plants hung up on bronze-colored pedestals.

Silver birches frame quiet pools in the landscaped gardens surrounding the beautiful white modern building. Exotic trees, neat beds of blue and white flowers and paved winding walks make these grounds a delight to the visitor.

Fifteen wide doors lead into the Entrance Hall of the air-conditioned Exhibit pavilion. Thus at peak times as many as 25,000 people enter these and other doors in a single hour, with no crowding or discomfort. Once inside, they find themselves walking on a special cork and rubber floor that is springy and easy on the feet. Industrial Hall is lighted clear as daylight. Lecturers—many of them Broadway actors—explain the exhibits over carefully modulated loud speakers.

The Ford Exposition's personnel of nearly 800 is the largest on the grounds. All the guides, lecturers and information girls are college trained. They are prepared to answer questions not only about the Ford Exhibit, but about the Fair and New York City in general. Interpreters stand ready to greet foreigners in their own language. The new Ford wonder-tractor is constantly demonstrated, too. It performs on a special one-acre plot, and visitors are invited to drive it.

The Ford Exposition's famous elevated "Road of Tomorrow" is reached by four wide stairways that minimize crowding. Up to mid-August the thirty gaily-colored cars that wind their way around this half-mile scenic highway had given free rides to more than 1,100,000 visitors. By that same date the entire Ford Exposition had registered, based on actual count, a total of more than 5,000,000 visitors. This banner attendance tops all other buildings at the Fair.

Actually, a visit to the New York Fair costs little. Mayor LaGuardia's committee has prepared a list of thousands of private homes where comfortable rooms may be obtained for a dollar a night. New York churches care for small children for a dollar a day, which includes their food. Some of the 70 World's Fair restaurants serve a complete meal for less than 50 cents. Fat, juicy hot dogs cost only a dime.

Pass Area to Get W.P.A. Project

Approval has been given for WPA construction of a flood control project in the Marshall canyon district, northeast of Beaumont, which will cost $41,702, according to word received from Congressman Harry R. Sheppard.

The improvement, listed as project No. 40069, will comprise a storm drain in the portion of Marshall canyon which extends approximately one-half miles to its intersection with Bellflower avenue, and a depressed roadway in the centers of that avenue and Highland Home avenue.

As result of such construction, flood waters will be directed from the storm drain westward along Bellflower avenue to the intersection at Highland Home avenue, and thence south to a diversion outlet. When in use for flood control purposes, the two highways will not be available to traffic.

Of the amount involved in the cost of the construction, Riverside county will furnish approximately $3000 toward purchase of materials.

Close Last Gap Main Line of Aqueduct

Construction crews Sunday closed the last gap in the building of the main line of the giant Metropolitan Aqueduct, according to reports received by F. E. Weymouth, general manager of the Metropolitan Water district of Southern California.

Placing concrete in a structure located at the exact spot where Colorado River water will flow through the aqueduct into the coastal plain of Southern California, the construction men Sunday completed the connection between the Casa Loma siphon and the famous San Jacinto tunnel.

Although it will still be a number of weeks before final clean-up and minor work is completed, the job which was finished Sunday brings an end to major construction work on the 242-mile main line of the Metropolitan aqueduct.

Additional months will be required to place the aqueduct's distribution system into operation.

Work on the project has been under way continuously since December, 1932, and has been one of the biggest construction jobs in the nation.

Oct. 14 Date of Completion

Water District officials stated that October 14 has been set as the official date for all clean-up and minor work to be completed on the main aqueduct. On that date the district's board of directors will participate in a brief ceremony at the structure which was completed Sunday and will place a bronze plaque commemorating the event and paying honor to the 35,000 men who have helped build the aqueduct.

The construction work, finished Sunday, was under the direct supervision of General Superintendent B. C. Leadbetter, who also had charge of the construction of the 13-mile San Jacinto tunnel. This tunnel is said to have been the most difficult tunnel ever to be constructed.

Largest in World

Crossing the entire state of California, the Metropolitan aqueduct is the largest aqueduct in the world. Including the initial development of its distributing system, the Metropolitan aqueduct has a total length of 392 miles and will have an ultimate capacity of one thousand million gallons of water per day.

Because of its tremendous length and size, water district engineers say that it will require many months of testing and checking before the system goes into regular operation. Preliminary operation of the main aqueduct has been under way in some sections for a number of months.

The giant water supply system has been built by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, to bring water from the Colorado river to thirteen Southern California cities. These thirteen cities which comprise the water district and which will receive the benefit of the aqueduct's unfailing water supply are Anaheim, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Compton, Fullerton, Glendale, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Santa Ana, San Marino, Santa Monica and Torrance.

Unharmed by Storm

Not a single section of the giant Metropolitan Water district aqueduct was damaged by the record-breaking rain storm which deluged the Colorado desert country, washing out highway systems and railroad lines between India and the Colorado river, it was reported Saturday.

Despite the fact that the aqueduct, for a distance of almost 200 miles traverses the desert region that has been subjected to the greatest downpour of rain on record, complete field reports received in the office of General Manager Weymouth in Los An-

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE PAYMENT EXTENDED TO OCTOBER 8

Further explanation of the Federal government's extension of time in the payment of unemployment insurance taxes for 1936, 1937 and 1938 was given today by W. F. French, chief of the Division of Insurance in the Department of Employment, as the result of a widespread demand for the further information on the part of employers.

The extension, French said, concerns only those employers in California who were delinquent in payments in any or all of the three years, and those employers who paid a double tax, that is, an unemployment insurance tax to both the federal government and to the State of California.

"To take advantage of the extension," said French, "all remittances must be in the mail, directed to the office of the Department of Employment in Sacramento before midnight, October 8. The fact that October 8 is Sunday is not considered."

"A previous announcement made by the department that if remittances were in the office by October 10 has been corrected by Federal officials, and remittances must be postmarked not later than midnight, October 8, to enable employers to receive credit."

Mother—"Well, you see, sir, for the past week I have been getting him used to it with my flower sprinkler."—Answers.

gees revealed that no part of the aqueduct system was damaged or harmed in any way.

Included in the aqueduct line that crosses the desert country are 63 miles of open concrete lined canals. Weymouth pointed out that in the construction of these canals provision was made for the disposal and diversion of storm water, and that all of the aqueduct works constructed for this purpose had functioned perfectly.

Clamp Down on Law Breakers Evading Court

Traffic laws add another powerful link, effective September 19, to the chain which is making evasion of court appearance for a traffic violation a serious matter. On and after that date, according to Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California Highway Patrol, drivers of motor vehicles who fail to appear in court and answer traffic violation citations will face additional severe penalties, including immediate suspension of their licenses.

To impress the necessity of appearing in court upon drivers who depend upon "tag fixers," "influence," or fictitious addresses to avoid warrant service, the legislature has decided a new penalty of $500 fine and six months in jail for driving a motor vehicle when licenses have been suspended.

A charge of failure to appear may also be added by the court, thus making it necessary for the driver cited to answer three violations of the Vehicle Code.

The new provision was included in the new laws becoming effective September 19th, to give the California Highway Patrol a more effective weapon in dealing with a large class of drivers and chauffeurs who annually fail to appear in court.

Warrants previously were issued by courts for the arrest of motorists, who ignored a traffic citation for 15 days. Many thousands of warrants gave addresses which were vacant lots, filling stations, or places where the wanted motorist was unknown. This practice of evading the law grew to such an extent that this large group of drivers cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars of unnecessary expense annually in an attempt to locate them.

DINNER AT LACUNA CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY OF GERALD SHILL

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Shill celebrated their first wedding anniversary on the night of September 9 with a dinner for a small group of friends at the Victor Hugo in Laguna Beach.

The celebration started in the afternoon with a cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Colomini in Santa Ana, they the parents of Mrs. Merle Boyle of Palm Springs.

Participating in the Shill's anniversary celebration were the following from Palm Springs: Mr. and Mrs. Merle Boyle and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ingram. Messrs. Shill, Boyle and Ingram are all employed at the local branch of the Bank of America.

George Roberson Sees 1940 Buick Line at Los Angeles

George Roberson, local Buick dealer, returned Thursday night after attending the largest Pacific coast field sales organization conference ever held by the Buick motor division of General Motors in preparation for what company officials believe will be the biggest year in Buick history. Mr. Roberson was accompanied by Lou Billington, manager of the Desert Inn Garage, where one of the new 1940 Buicks is now on display.

While in Los Angeles Mr. Roberson inspected the new Buick models for 1940, and reports them outstanding in style treatment and mechanical advances and the "hottest" line of new cars he has pre-viewed in his many years in the motor car business.

"While details of the new cars are to be withheld until the public announcement date," said Roberson, "it is no violation of confidence to say that two new Buick lines will be added for next year. We will thus have a Buick to fit every need and every purse just above the lowest price field."

"While at Los Angeles our Buick president, Harlow H. Curd, told me that he has already made commitments totaling $40,000,000 for early production of new models and that between now and the close of the year more than 100,000 new cars are scheduled for production. This is by a wide margin the heaviest fall schedule in the history of the company, and is an indication of the demand anticipated when the new models are publicly shown."

"We also learned that advance orders placed for new 1940 Buicks 'sight unseen' already total $15,000,000. Some of these orders were turned in by us for our customers who will be the first to get delivery of the new Buicks here."

"The Buick project for the next twelve months calls for an output in excess of 240,000 cars, as compared with 208,000 in the highly successful 1939 model year. If the 1940 schedule is realized, the necessary expenditures for materials, wages and the like will pour upwards of 200,000,000 Buick dollars into the channels of national business."

"New models were already rolling down the assembly line at the Los Angeles plant when we were there, and every indication points to our having a large selection of cars on hand to assure prompt delivery by announcement day."

"As a result of our appraisal of the new models, we confidently expect to set new Buick records here in Palm Springs during the next twelve months," Roberson said, after returning from Los Angeles.

County Fair Will Dedicate Huge Statue to Young Farmers

CNPA, Inc., Service.

An interesting and significant feature of the opening day's ceremony at Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, Friday, Sept. 15, will be the unveiling of the beautiful prize statue, executed by the noted sculptor Lawrence Tenny Stevens and dedicated to the Young Farmers of America. The statue, 9 ft. high and weighing 20 tons, adorns the entrance of the Fine Arts Building. Miss Merlyn Huber is shown in the act of welcoming the Fair throngs.

Young Ball Players To Be Given Chance By Cincinnati Reds

Well satisfied with results from their summer schools in the far West, the farm clubs of the Cincinnati Reds organization are announcing a fall series. All boys of ability, between the ages of 17 and 21, are invited to attend. The camp will be held in San Bernardino at Parris Hill Park, September 26 to 30.

Prior to its summer series of this year, the Cincinnati organization had held 36 of these camps, selecting 121 boys for a try-out in professional ball. With the conclusion of the present series, 55 such camps will have been held since they were inaugurated in the fall of 1934. In this brief period many of the camp graduates have won places for themselves in professional ball, and five have reached the stage of a major league trial. Most advanced thus far is Joe Gantenbein, now with the Athletics. One player, Paul Gherman, went in one year from a camp to participation in major league ball games. Others are on the way.

The camps will be in charge of various scouts of the Cincinnati organization. At each one, several games of four innings will be played daily. Time will be called frequently for purposes of instruction. There will be no tuition charge, but boys will be expected to furnish their own uniforms, gloves and shoes, without which they may not take part in games. They must also pay their own transportation and living expenses. Experience shows that $1.50 to $2.00 a day should be enough to cover the latter. Those who appear ready to start in professional ball will be offered contracts in the Cincinnati organization. It is hoped that all players, however, will profit from their attendance at the camps.

Inquiries about these camps should be addressed to the Pacific coast agent of the Reds farm clubs, Charles E. Chapman, 12 Via Farallon, Orinda, California. Blanks are available at The Record and Herald office.

DATES SETTLED FOR TEACHERS' SESSION

The change in Thanksgiving to November 23 has caused a switch in the dates of the annual county teachers' institute to November 20-22. E. E. Smith, county superintendent of schools, revealed last week.

In a communication forwarded to all teachers of the county system, Smith notified them of the dates for the institute session which is held in this county on the three days preceding the holiday.

Four group meetings in the county, which are to be attended by the teachers to confer with Smith's staff of supervisors, were announced by the superintendent as follows:

Perris—Monday, September 18, 4-6 p. m., Perris grammar school. Elsinore—Tuesday, September 19, 4-6 p. m., Elsinore grammar school. Coachella—Wednesday, September 20, 7:30 p. m., Coachella grammar school.

West Riverside—Thursday, September 21, 4-6 p. m., county court house.

Flying Fortress At March Field

Arrival of the first of a series of new "Flying Fortresses" at March Field heralded this week the carrying out of the air corps plan to place a heavy bombardment group on the West coast.

The "fortress" was assigned to the nineteenth bombardment group, GHQ air force. Having received notification from the Boeing factory that the plane was ready, Col. Harvey S. Burwell, commanding officer of the nineteenth bombardment group, sent his veteran pilot, Capt. Hilbert M. Wittkop, to Seattle, Wash., to fly the plane home.

With Capt. Archibald Y. Smith as co-pilot, Captain Wittkop pulled the four-motored bomber off the Seattle runways and flew the thousand-odd miles over the West coast mountains without incident.

The B-17b "Flying Fortress" is an improved model of these which last year made the good-will flight to South America and is reputed to be the finest of its type in the world. Carrying a crew of five officers and six enlisted men, it is one of about 28 that are to be based at March Field.

Safeguard Children Is Schools' Plea To All Motorists

Reopening of schools for the fall term places added responsibilities upon motorists while passing school grounds or driving in their vicinity, cautions the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Because many thousand tots will be going to and from schools alone for the first time, extra care must be exercised by all drivers for the protection of the youngsters' lives and limbs.

Automobile speed is limited to fifteen miles per hour when passing a school building or grounds during recess or while children are going to or leaving school, or while playgrounds are in use, the club advises.

The driver of any vehicle upon a highway outside of a business or residence district upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall bring such vehicle to a stop immediately before passing said school bus but may then proceed past at a speed not greater than is reasonable or proper but in no event greater than ten miles per hour and with due caution for the safety of pedestrians.

Each motorist should assist school safety committees in their efforts to safeguard school-children from traffic dangers. These student officers do not direct traffic but are stationed at curbs to control the movement of children across streets. The alert watchfulness and cooperation of motorists is necessary to play fair with school children, most of whom do their part by obeying traffic rules, the club safety department concluded.

THE COUNTY AT A GLANCE

BLYTHE

Cost to Palo Verde valley as a result of the deluge which descended, will probably run at least to $150,000, estimates made after the storm indicated.

Nearly half the probable loss will be felt by alfalfa growers, should further investigation support the figures of Benjamin Olson and C. M. Darland. They believe that approximately $50,000 worth of seed was ruined during the storm, and that $15,000 worth of stacked alfalfa hay must be considered practically a total loss.

This would mean that at least $65,000 would be needed to cover the loss of seed and hay alone. Included in the seed damage and probably comprising the most important part of it were the 2000 acres of seed either not threshed or cut, from which some 400,000 pounds of seed would have been harvested, according to the valley's average production this year.

C. P. Mahoney, manager and engineer of the Palo Verde irrigation district, said damage to canals and the irrigation system would probably run at least $25,000.

COACHELLA

While there may be some damage to soft dates which are now ready to be picked, it is not believed the rain of last week did serious damage to the main crop of Degletnoors, which will not be ready for picking even in the earlier sections, for ten days or two weeks.

Much depends on weather conditions immediately following the rain. Many of the growers have covered maturing bunches, but about half of them are not so protected. Considerable difference of opinion exists as to advantage of the paper coverings, some growers stating that wet paper over the dates is worse than rain directly on them.

HEMET

The request of the Hemet-San Jacinto union of the Workers Alliance for use of the school buildings, under consideration for several weeks, again came up for consideration of the board last week. While making no final decision on the matter of allowing use of a school building for a series of meetings, the board decided that permission would be given for one meeting and consideration given subsequent requests if for one meeting, and provided that a payment be made in advance of $5 for such use of the Hemet elementary school auditorium for a meeting.

INDIO

An inhalator and resuscitator may be available for use in the Coachella Valley in the near future if plans of the Indio Fire Department announced last week meet with the success they merit.

It was originally planned by the department, according to Chief Harry McCausland, to attempt to raise funds for such equipment when their annual firemen's ball was held this winter. However, because of recent fatal accidents in which the immediate use of an inhalator might have revived the victims, general opinion is that there should be no delay in the purchase of the emergency equipment, McCausland said.

It is the plan of the fire department to launch an immediate ticket-selling campaign for their annual ball held during one of the winter months, rather than wait until a few weeks before the event, as is usually done. The money raised through sale of tickets and donations will be used for the purchase of an inhalator.

SAN JACINTO

As the result of a field trip made last week into the mountain district southeast of the valley by Mrs. Loyd Schield, curator of the San Jacinto museum, parts of an old wagon in which the Robertson family came to the Anza district from Texas in 1869 have been added to the museum collection. They were placed on display last week-end, when nearly 100 persons visited the local institution.

The wagon parts were donated by Merrill Robertson, former San Jacinto police chief who now makes his home in the mountain district.

Fire Department....

300 feet of 1½-inch hose with two nozzles, fog and straight and gas masks.

There are 74 fire plugs evenly divided throughout the various sections of town that maintain as high as 80-pounds pressure.

FOR ACCIDENTS

The emergency and chief's car is a very important unit of the department. It is equipped with a small extension ladder, gas masks, stretcher, resuscitator and inhalator, with an aspirator attachment with six tanks of oxygen gas. A home-light generator that furnishes power for lighting at three 500-watt floodlights or a 1300-watt outfit that can operate spotlights. This is particularly useful for night fires, accidents, floods and the like when the power happens to be off.

The emergency car also carries four salvage covers 12x18 feet, fire and water proof, to be used to cover furniture, etc., to protect the same from fire and water, thus cutting down on property damage and saving things that could not be easily or quickly moved.

GAMEWELL ALARM SYSTEM

The Gamewell Alarm System, installed a year ago last Spring, summons volunteers to the scene of the fire. The town is divided into sections. Knowing the code numbers, and judging from the number of blasts, the volunteers can determine in what part of town the fire is.

The system can accommodate 60 alarm boxes when it is found to be advisable to install more. At present the calls come in by phone, No. 4664, and the toothed code wheel is placed on the rotating dial by hand. A series of batteries in the sending box supplies power for operating the machine if the power happens to be off when an alarm is sent in.

A two-horse-power motor with air pump and tank and an auxiliary tank on the roof of the building supplies air for the horn. In the front of the building on the right side of the door, is a night bell button. Above it is a white light that operates automatically by clock, coming on at dark and off at dawn. While the light is burning, the bell will ring. This was installed to take care of night calls made at the station.

A battery charger was installed in the station this spring to keep the batteries of the trucks fully charged at all times. This is plugged to the trucks without moving the batteries from their containers. The motors are run every other day for 15 minutes, keeping them in good working condition ready for any strain.

RESCUE CLUB STATION AND RED CROSS SUPPLIES

The fire station also serves as a place for storing the outfits of the Rescue Club and for assembly when the club members answer calls. In readiness are food packs and canteens, first aid equipment and supplies, ropes, Coleman lanterns, etc.

The local unit of the Red Cross has a huge cupboard in the front part of the station, where articles for the needy and sick are available. There are a number of sick room utensils on hand, but there is need of many more useful articles that a thoughtful and kindly citizenry will soon provide.

THE FIREMEN

The Fire District employs three men to take care of the equipment, building and the various calls. Two men work in shifts of 24 hours, and the chief is at the station throughout the entire day unless out on an emergency or inspection tour. All are subject to call at any time.

There are 14 volunteers always on call. Meeting and practice every Monday night. Last winter the volunteers received a six-weeks course in fire-fighting by a member of the fire-fighting staff of the state fire department. All are members of the California State Firemen's Association.

PUBLIC WELCOME TO INSPECT STATION

The Fire Station is open for inspection every day, and anyone who wishes to see the equipment and have it explained to them may avail themselves of this opportunity. The department is kept up by the money the property owners save on their fire insurance. During the past year the Palm Springs received a 15 per cent reduction on fire insurance rates, all due to the first class shape of men and equipment.

Palm Springs Man....

At Seward the Tanner party chartered a car and drove to Anchorage. Here they fished in the Russian river and in three hours four members of the party caught 34 trout. The trout ranged in size from three to seven pounds. "Minnows under three pounds we threw back into the river," Chapman stated, in telling of the size of Russian River trout. There is no limit on trout in Alaska, according to the Palm Springs man. They motored inland to Mt. McKinley National Park and then returned to Seward.

When asked what were some of the highlights of his trip, Chapman said that among them were the Columbia Glacier, the Northern Lights and the midnight sun. They enjoyed a fine display of the Northern Lights at Cordova.

Mr. Chapman said that the boat stopped at the Columbia Glacier, and the ship's whistle was blasted many times in an effort to vibrate off a large chunk of the glacier. Finally a rifle was brought out and several shots were taken at the glacier, but still no piece of glacier tumbled into the ocean. Just as the ship was about to continue on, one more long blast of the whistle was given, and the blast vibrated off a huge chunk of the glacier. The wave that followed this huge piece of ice falling into the ocean broke over the deck of the boat and rocked the steamer like a canoe.

The party was out from Seattle 14 days before returning to the States.

Wilson Chapman himself sold the Alaskan trip to these people on March 28, when they were guests at the El Mirador Hotel.

Mrs. Chapman is the secretary at the city offices here.
